

Metaphysical Poetry

wit, Donne, rhyme
scheme, seventeenth, sin,
a loved person,
love, moral, simple,
speakers,

① Fill in the gaps with the words from the box.

Metaphysical poetry is a modern term to describe a poetry style from the [] century. The poets question religion and [] and often discussed the matters with God or []. They intensively used [] and metaphors to express themselves. These metaphors examined [] and religious questions. Their verse form was []. Line and [] enforced the sense of the poems. In John [] poems it was typical that the voice of the [] and the author were not easily identifiable. In his religious poetry Donne is concerned with [].

② Check this YouTube video to find more information on metaphysical poetry including some examples of metaphors and moral questions.

*Who am I?
Why am I here?
What is my sense in life?*

metaphysical authors

Metaphysical Poetry

is a poetic style in which philosophical and spiritual subjects were approached with reason and often concluded in paradox.