

It is your birthday soon and you want to organize a party with your friends. Giving a party has to be planned well. First you need to write invitations for your guests.

- ① Write an invitation to your birthday party. Include important information (When? Where? Should the guests bring something?)

If you do not want your guests to be hungry, you have to go shopping for your party.

- ② Work with a partner. Discuss which foods you would like to have at your party and what you need to buy. Make a list.
