

Some information is already given and some information is still missing. Fill in the blanks or mark the correct answer (more than one answer is possible)

Karl Lindner

What is suspicious in the excerpt?

Racism as an enabler and obstacle to women's self-determination in A Raisin in the Sun

Notes:

Beneatha's interaction with George -> racist elements and how this affects their relationship

Who does George disagree with and why?:

How does this affect their relationship?

Racist elements of the neighbors and the Youngers family reaction reaction to the racist prejudice regarding their planned move into the white neighborhood

- | | |
|--|--|
| <input type="radio"/> Walter is angry that people are trying to stop them from moving into the new house | <input type="radio"/> Beneatha uses sarcasm and does not take the comments serious |
| <input type="radio"/> Walter ist happy that his neighbors are trying to stop them from moving | <input type="radio"/> Beneatha makes fun of the neighbors |
| <input type="radio"/> Mama is not fazed by Lindners comments | <input type="radio"/> Mama goes to Miss Johnson to talk bad about Lindner |

Internalized racism

Adopting the stereotypical beliefs against their own ethnicity and then express them against their own community or other groups. It can lead to self-hatred on ones own ethnicity.

What is firmly entrenched in the African-American community?

Ghetto -> racism in Chicago (1950)

What created the Ghettos?

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|--|
| <input type="radio"/> immigration | <input type="radio"/> population |
| <input type="radio"/> white hostility | <input type="radio"/> economic disparities |

List three dangerous neighborhoods.

Topicality -> why is the subject of racism still being addressed?

Racism is a significant issue in our society, as people are still discriminated against based on stereotypes and prejudices related to their skin color, origin, or religion. It is crucial to address this problem to promote awareness and equality.

Therefore it is important to realize that ultimately, we are all human beings of equal worth.