

Friendship

- ① Below you can see a list of adjectives which describe the qualities of a good friend. Fill in the correct noun next to each of the adjectives!

A good friend is ...

trustworthy [redacted], honest [redacted], emphatic [redacted],
loyal [redacted], supportive [redacted], funny [redacted],
patient [redacted], positive [redacted], attentive [redacted], spontaneous [redacted], reliable [redacted] and loving [redacted].

- ② A recipe for friendship

- After reading the example, think about the ingredients YOU would mix together to create friendship (and how much of each is needed). Then, write a friendship recipe (ingredients + 5-8 phrases)!

Ingredients:

Preparation:

③ Listen and choose the correct answer!

① Australian scientists found that a network of friends increased people's ...

- a) happiness.
- b) connection to their children.
- c) chances of living longer.
- d) family members.

② This could be because friends have ... in your decisions and choices than family members.

- more influence
- less influence
- more interest
- less interest

③ Loneliness or social isolation can cause people ...

- to be more emotional.
- to be financially unstable.
- to eat more unhealthy food.
- to make riskier decisions.

④ The so-called „Dunbar Number“ (150) is ...

- the optimal number of enemies a person should have.
- the optimal number of people living together.
- the maximum amount of friends a person can have.
- the maximum amount of people a person can know.

⑤ The theory is based on a comparison between the brainsize of humans and the brainsize and social groups of ...

- primates (f. ex. monkeys).
- mammals (f. ex. elephants).
- reptiles (f. ex. crocodiles).
- birds (f. ex. pigeons).

⑥ About 57% of teenagers ...

- made more than five new friends online.
- met a good friend online.
- met half of their friends online.
- met a friend through online gaming.