Brand Exploration

1 Group work.

Create a mind map or wall poster extracting information on child labor related to the brands. Express your critical opinion on the topic.

Follow these steps:

1) Distribute the materials:

Divide the materials among your group members.
Share and discuss to ensure that everyone has a fair share.

2) Gathering information:

Communicate and extract key details about your assigned brand.
Focus on capturing headlines, subsections and keywords (summary writing).

The following questions will help you decide what information to put on your poster. Use them to think about the important details for each topic and make your poster clear and interesting.

- What specific scandals have occurred within the companies under consideration?
- How does the media influence the portrayal and coverage of these companies?
- How transparent are the companies' supply chains?
- In what areas do these companies demonstrate ethical practices?
- What factors are driving changes in the strategies or practices of these companies?
- What is the credibility of information or actions in relation to these companies?
- What are the working conditions of these companies (suppliers)?
- What aspects of children's health do these companies consider or influence?
- How do these companies address or contribute to children's rights?
- What are the common labour practices in these companies?

3) Mind map creation:

Work together to create a mind map on the wall using labelled cards.
Take care not to overcrowd the cards with text.
Think of it as a visual poster with concise information.

4) Your opinion:

Express your opinion, again on labelled cards on the right side of your 'poster'

5) Prepare for the gallery walk:

Be prepared to present your poster during the next class. We will do a gallery walk.
Each member should be prepared to discuss the content of the poster.
