

info

This worksheet is about auxiliary verbs and their substitutes in the simple present, simple past and will-future.

In the next exercises, you can fill in one of the following verbs: to be allowed to, to be able to, should, can, to have to.

This is an interactive worksheet, you can type in words directly.

- ① Fill in the correct auxiliary verb/substitute. The following sentences are all positive. Use can only when no other verb fits.

Yesterday a nurse _____ help many people.

Next week a pilot _____ fly to his favorite destination
New York.

A mechanic _____ fix your car today.

Last year many students _____ study very hard for the exams.

Tomorrow an architect _____ present the new building plan to his

- ② Fill in the correct auxiliary verb/substitute. The following sentences are all negative. Use can only when no other verb fits.

Just like this year, taxi drivers _____ drive without a license last year.

Today a secretary _____ finish all the letters, because there are too many.

Yesterday a firefighter _____ reach the burning house quickly.

Next month one of the medical assistants _____ work on Saturdays.

- ③ Fill in the correct auxiliary verb/substitute. The following sentences are questions. Use can only when no other verb fits.

_____ a social worker _____ help all of the young adults yesterday?

_____ a pilot _____ land in London tomorrow?

_____ a mechanic solve the problem today?

_____ a teacher give extra lessons next week?

