

Past Progressive

The past progressive is a progression of the preterite or a progression of the past. You use it for something you did in the past at a specific time (1), simultaneous actions in the past (2), or an action in progress which is interrupted by a new action (3).

- (1) He was reading a book at 7 o'clock.
 (2) She was doing math while he was doing physics.
 (3) We were eating dinner when the phone rang.

SIGNALWORDS

when, while, as long as...

| Positive | Negative | Question |
|--------------------------------------|---|--------------------------------------|
| She was walking her dog in the park. | She wasn't (was not) walking her dog in the park. | Was she walking her dog in the park? |

Sentences

<https://www.publicdomain-pictures.net/pictures210000velkapet-dog.jpg>

| | |
|-------------|------------------|
| I | was verb + -ing |
| He, She, It | was verb + -ing |
| You | were verb + -ing |
| They | were verb + -ing |
| We | were verb + -ing |

forming

More informations

If you need or want more informations, follow this link:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RJAqKEljAFw>

